Notes
This certificate is valid for the purpose stated. Immigration authorities generally treat a police certificate as current for 12 months from the date of issue. The result reflects information held by Australian police agencies only and does not cover offences recorded overseas. Where an applicant has lived outside Australia for 12 months or more in the last 10 years, a police certificate from that country is also required. Mr Tanaka lived in Japan until 2 February 2018, so a Japanese certificate was obtained separately.
